

Bookmark

Have you ever found coffee stains or forgotten notes in a book borrowed from a friend or the library? Quite often casual traces are left in books. Traces which tells a tiny tale of the person who had the book before you.

In this project you are invited to create and leave a deliberate message to the person who reads a book after you. Maybe you feel like creating a visual interesting bookmark. Maybe you recommend an author, write a comment about the book, scribble down your favourite recipe or a note from your dairy? Or maybe you wish to do something completely different. The choice of what you leave is yours.

Procedure

1. Use the displayed paper to create your bookmark
2. Hide your creation well in a book before returning it to the library or its owner.

You are very welcome to mail a picture of your creation to be displayed on my homepage. Or you can keep the creation a secret between you and the person who finds it.

Have fun.

Berit Nørgaard, 2010

www.beritnoergaard.dk

In case of any questions please contact:
analoghacking@gmail.com

